VARIOUS MONEY ISSUES FILL AGENDA AT COUNCIL MEETING

by Janet Weintraub

At a special meeting of the Greenbelt City Council on June 23, the council acted on six agenda items—a special assessment for improvements on Westway, a transfer of funds for improvements on the swimming pool, consultant's fees for the Elderly Housing Facility, a decision on sliding doors vs. windows in the facility and other design issues, acquisition of part of parcel 2, and funding for an additional police officer for the city. unanimously voted to recommend

Council members unanimously voted to pass Ordinance #812, which divides equally the cost of improvements to Westway Road, certified at $7,631.76, between the city and the Jewish Community Council also unanimously approved a transfer of funds, in the amount of $2,500, for major repairs of the pool which were undertaken in the spring.

Elderly Housing

Metropolitan Associates Development Corporation had originally been employed by the city for a fee of $12,600 to oversee development of the Elderly Housing facility through the mortgage closing. Mayor Gil Weidenfeld explained that now the State has published a new set of regulations which require that the consultant undertake additional responsibilities. Council unanimously voted to increase the consultant's fee to $24,750, in accordance with the extra work which the firm will perform. (The city will be reimbursed for this ex-

The architect for this facility had asked the council for a decision of either sliding glass doors or windows for apartments located above the ground floor. The Elderly Housing Advisory Board (EHAB) recommended sliding glass doors by a 4 to 3 vote. The EHAB felt that doors would enhance the beauty of the building, while noting that they involved additional cost and maintenance, and also increased the possibility of accidents. City Manager James Giese added that the older members of the EHAB had voted in favor of the windows. A discussion of the various pitfalls of sliding glass doors ensued, and council

New State Laws Aid Municipal Funding

According to Delegate Leo Green, a principal sponsor of the Municipal Police Aid Bill, the State's payments in aid for police protection will now go directly to the City, rather than being funneled through the county government. This will mean a quicker and more efficient cash flow in the city's treasury. The bill, co-sponsored by Delegates Gerard Devlin and David Ross, was a top priority on the City of Greenbelt's legislative program. It was signed into law by Lieutenant Governor Blair Lee.

Semi-annual payments of horse racing funds will also be made directly to the city, under the terms of a bill principally sponsored by Delegate Devlin and co-sponsored by Delegates Green and Ross.

A third bill, with the same sponsors, makes a change in the manner of computing the municipal share of the local income tax paid to each municipality. The percentage of the municipal share will be computed on the state income tax liability of the taxpayers of a municipality, rather than on the net taxable income. Depending on the municipality, this means that more of the income taxes paid to the State by the residents of municipalities will return to the city to be spent for city services. The bill provides a "grandfather clause," so that no city will lose money.

Let's Improve the Lake To the Editor:

Our city has encouraged visitors to come and enjoy the beauty of our lake with us for a long time. It has done such a good job that Greenbelters have long since been squeezed out and now there is very little left to enjoy. I would suggest that we take in the WELCOME mat and try to rebuild the lake shore to its beauty of 30 years ago. It takes only a moment to observe the surroundings and see that our generously outstretched hand has been filled with empty bottles, cans, paper and other debris, and the tranquility and relaxed atmosphere of the lake has been destroyed. It was a losing battle and we did lose.

Check it out for yourself and you will find: 1-There is little parking for visitors since commuters use the area for fringe parking. 2-The grass has reverted to sand and gravel. 3-Papers, plastic, cans, bottles, and doggie-do, are in ample evidence.

4-There is a basketball court with the hoops bent and broken. Do we really need a basketball court at the Lake to add bluster and confusion to a quiet evening at the Lake? This type of activity is not needed there and I'd suggest it be torn up and moved to an area where it would be more appreciated.

5-The playground area is ever reaching its tentacles further and further and has become an extension of the apartment project and it is in a terrible location. If it has to be in the lake area, put it behind the warehouse where it would be less obtrusive!

6-The Johnny huts brazenly stare at you, daring you to enter. If you do, I'll vouch for a quick exit. They should be moved to an area with a vegetation shield, I think, or better still, build rest rooms.

The concession stand is much larger than I had remembered it, and much too commercial for a quiet relaxing moment away from the government whirl. I liked it better when your family could picnic after work in a natural setting and unwind somewhat, didn't you? I would suggest that the city buy the stand and remove all commercial activity from the lake permanently . . . I would like to see the park revert to its original purpose and not be denuded, littered, abused, and deliberately destroyed ... with such monstrocities as the concession stand and the bandstand in all its ugliness. (The bandstand has always been a horror and if it can't be hidden then by all means let's make it attractive.) It seems to me that all the eve-sores are dumped right at the lake entrance

If we are, indeed, seriously considering giving the lake back to the residents of Greenbelt, then let the city issue a free- windshield sticker for each resident, with nonresidents excluded. After all we are paying for it

City Gravel Tested For Asbestos Content

by Elaine Skolnik

Some traces of serpentinite - the rock that is said to contain asbestos fibers were found on some spots around the lake trail and on a few road shoulders and private property. City crews have already applied fresh crushed stone over the old materials on the city-owned precautionary measure As a Greenbelt recently turned over to the County Bureau of Air Quality Control samples of exposed blue stone found throughout the community. The county transmitted the stones to the State for testing by a geologist. The corrective measures were taken to prevent the dust, which carries the harmful agent, from being airborne.

Several years ago the city purchased some stone material from the Rockville Quarry, where stone containing asbestos fibre is supposed to originate. Since it was not specifically known where this small amount of material was utilized in the city some 45 samples were sent for examination. No suspicious stones were found in playgrounds.

According to the Prince Georges County Health Department, the type of crushed stone that contains asbestos fibers and is currently found in Montgomery County does not appear to be a major public health hazard in the county.

County officials note that, based on the data so far analyzed, the quarry in Rockville is not itself the major source contributing to the presence of asbestos in the air. Rather, the hazard is in the use and misuse of the rock from that quarry, such on unimproved roads where braking, turning, and acceleration of vehicles will produce visible dust clouds. When this occurs, asbestos and asbestiform minerals are released into the air. Smokers stand a much greater risk of incurring asbestos-related health problems, such as cancer of the lungs, than do nonsmokers given a similar amount of exposure to asbestos.

The offending crushed stone from the Rockville Quarry is a rough, irregularly shaped rock with sharp edges. The color ranges from light to very dark gray and sometimes a dark, dull green. Often veins of green can be seen in the rock, especially when it is wet. On the other hand, pea gravel mined in Prince Georges County is generally yellowish brown or white and is round or oblong, with a smooth pebble finish. Pea gravel is perfectly safe.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 794-6080.

Gas Leak Danger Averted At Convalescent Center

A natural gas leak in the kitchen of the Greenbelt Convalescent Center sent three employees to the hospital for treatment on July 4. There were no other injuries and the building was not evacuated.

Responding to the scene at 8 p.m. were twenty members of the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department Rescue Squad (GVFD&RS) and the Berwyn Fire Department. Assisting also were personnel from the Washington Gas Light Co., who repaired the malfunction.

GVFD&RS assistant chief William Bingham called the leak a "substantial" one, which kept them working for two and a half hours. Devices that register and measure the explosive limits of the gas present were used to locate the leak. Bingham said the Departments "took all the necessary precautions to prevent any casualties and injuries." This involved the use of large fans for ventilation and checking to make certain the gas did not leak to any other parts of the building. When the leak was located, the gas was immediately shut off.

The Convalescent call was one of twelve that the Greenbelt Fire Department responded to on July 4, starting at 5 p.m. There were brush fires, automobile accidents, ambulance calls and an incident at the Lake-Park.
